Project Management - Powering India's Global Leadership

The last few years have seen tremendous economic changes. The government has announced a host of programs like Make in India, Digital India and Skilling India. This has given the industry the necessary impetus to move ahead with their growth plans. The focus is clearly on economic growth, that in turn translates into increased number of projects. This adds an enormous pressure on successful project execution. The answer, we believe lies in effective project management and project leadership. One of the platforms by which PMI India influences project thinking in the Indian Industry is to conduct the Project Management National Conference every year.
