

THDCIL project wins award

NT Bureau

Chennai, Oct 5:

Koteshwar Hydro Electric Project of THDC India Limited (THDCIL) has won the PMI India Project Management Award-2012.

D V Singh, director (technical), THDCIL, along with senior officers of THDCIL received the award recently at Project Management National Conference, India 2012.

Koteshwar project has been adjudged winner in category 'Best Project of the Year- Long duration (more than three years)' among more than 75 submissions from all sectors under this category.

The award has been given in recognition of excellence and the outstanding performance by THDCIL in implementation of Koteshwar Hydro Electric project by applying best project management principles and techniques.

Koteshwar is the fastest implemented Hydro Project of nation in its category by starting works almost from scratch in April 2007 to commissioning of two units in March 2011.